Chapter Communications FAQ

The Communications Committee answers a few questions about Chapter Communications

Q: Will there still be a Chapter newsletter next year?

A: Yes and no. This is the final issue of the familiar monthly newsletter. Its content will remain, but in a different format.

Note: If you have an email address, please include it on the dues renewal form. We need it for AGO communications. You can opt out of having it printed in the yearbook. We won't share your email address with other groups. If you change your email address during the coming year, please let the Membership Secretary know.

Q: How will we get Chapter news?

A: Via emails through a software tool called "Constant Contact", which we've been using for the past year to send you reminders of upcoming chapter programs. Next fall you'll get messages twice a month: chapter program announcements and news, messages from offices and committees, and articles of interest. You can read them on your computer when they arrive, you can print them out to read in the bathtub later. You can even refer to them on your smart phone on your way to the program!

Note: Constant Contact is a secure service that will not sell or distribute email lists. You do not need to subscribe to the tool; we will use our BAGO contact list to distribute information. A word of caution however: if you 'unsubscribe' we cannot assist you to resubscribe. You must do that yourself; this is a guard the service has against spamming. So, if you choose to 'unsubscribe', please realize that you are taking yourself off of our communications service. You'll miss news of all the happenings of your Chapter!

Q: I don't use email. How will I get news?

A: We've hired Barbara Swist (of our current newsletter team) to send you printed versions of these Constant Contact messages via first class mail about once a month. If you don't provide an email address on your membership renewal form, we'll know you don't have one.

Q: How will I get the substitute list?

A: It's available 24/7 on the chapter website. Go there (www.bostonago.com —or—www.bostonago.org). Put your cursor on the brown border over "Our Chapter", move your mouse down to "substitute list" and click. You'll see guidelines and current fee scales for subs. To see the list of names, go to "Download the list" and click on the word here. If you don't use computers, call Josh Lawton to request a list.

Note: Without space restrictions of a printed newsletter, it will be possible in the future to expand the information about each organist on the list, helping to select the right person for your needs.

Q: I used to go through the monthly newsletter's Concert Calendar and mark events of interest on my calendar. It had all we needed to know: date, time, what, where. Now I get announcements when the system decides to send it and I miss concerts. How can I find out what I want to know?

A: Our beloved concert calendar is still on the chapter website, with all the concerts listed, just like the newsletter. But instead of it being sent to you, you have to go to it--anytime you want! Each concert listing has all the info you mention and more. If you want the concert calendar sent to you, a "clip and save" article on p. 1 of the January 2012 Newsletter gives step-by-step instructions on creating customized profile. If you create a profile, the website will also automatically notify you of concerts that you want to know about, when you want to know. If you don't use computers, ask a friend to print one out for you. If that doesn't work, contact an officer or communications committee member.

Note: The Constant Contact messages you've been received were reminders for only the official chapter programs, which had already been described in the newsletter. They were never intended to replace the concert calendar when it moved to the chapter website in January.

Dean's Message

Since 1905 and the founding of the Boston Chapter, 49 people have served as Dean. Two years ago, highly unusual circumstances made it necessary to recycle Dean #41 as Dean #50. It has been a challenge. It has been an honor. And I hereby officially re-affirm our tradition of nominating only "fresh horses" for this office!

That being said, it has been interesting to be a "Janus Dean", always looking both backward and forward. Comparing my past two years in guild leadership to my previous eighteen consecutive years (1982-2000), I realize that many of our chapter's strengths and challenges remain. 'Plus ça change, plus c'est la même chose.'

What's the same? A typical chapter program draws about 5-10% of our membership. Your Sub-Deans and Program Committees consider a venue's public transit access and parking. They target events for vocational and avocational organists. They concoct lectures, practical workshops and recitals. They mix weeknights with Saturday and Sunday afternoons. Newsletter articles say, "Give us your input.....give us feedback....tell us what you want or need." Silence.

What's different this time around? Well, Deans have to know something about everything in the Chapter's life. Twenty years ago, that information came from letters or conversations—either on the telephone or in meetings. These days it requires catching at least 50 AGO emails daily, bouncing them along to the appropriate people, and retaining as much as possible. Yes, it's much easier to pass along information, but so much more difficult hold on to it. Yes, we're more connected, and yet we're more disconnected. Actual "face time" is still vital, but it's more difficult than ever to schedule.

What's the biggest change? Probably that the steady stream of young organists that used to flood this town every year has dried up to a trickle. No local organ degree programs, no students. No students, fewer new organists. Fewer newcomers, fewer Chapter members. For the most part, the same people have been holding the Chapter up for a generation. We are rich in loyalty, wisdom, and experience. But there is less energy, less vitality than there once was. Hopefully the 2014 convention will be a recharging experience!

A few observations at year's end:

- Although our membership numbers continue to drop, we are still a very large Chapter. We are blessed with financial, musical, and human resources. Yet it's easy for members to get lost, to be unnoticed, to feel unneeded. How can create a stronger sense of “community” in this large chapter?

- Our chapter boasts some of the finest organ players, scholars, and builders on the planet. What resources we have! Yet this rarified air can make it intimidating for some to step forward, to become actively involved.

How can we effectively assess the needs and gifts of such a broad membership?

- The Executive Committee is responsible for approving all initiatives. It is—by nature—more reactive than proactive, more stagnant than creative. It barely has time to deal with what it must, let alone think about what could be. The real work of our chapter happens at the committee or “task force” level. But with 21 elected posts, our organizational energy is devoted to finding potential candidates and then serving on the Executive Committee.

Is it time to re-examine our chapter’s leadership structure?

- We are blessed to have many faithful people serving in various capacities. Their experience is so valuable! Each incoming Dean hopes and prays that everyone will continue in their roles. Yet this also creates some natural stagnation, and repeated calls for newcomers typically yield no fruit.

How do we breathe new life in our committees?

Sadly, I don’t have answers, only a few suggestions:

- 1) Create a task force to study the chapter’s organizational structure and the Operating Procedures, which are due for an updating soon.

(Note: Only the National AGO has Bylaws. Chapters have Operating Procedures, which must not be in conflict with the national Bylaws.

- 2) Expand the membership of both the Communications and Membership Committees; ask them to develop a strategy for their year’s work. Working with data from the Membership Secretary, these two bodies have enormous potential for building community within this large, amorphous chapter.

- 3) Recruit a Hospitality Team to work with both Membership and Program Committees to add a social component to more chapter programs.

- 4) Remember that the Dean has to be juggler, diplomat, CEO, cheerleader, and a jack of all trades. He can’t also be Sole Visionary or Benevolent Dictator. Don’t expect him to micromanage your committee.

- 5) Committee Chairs, don’t do the work of your committee by yourself. Insist on active participation. If some of your members are burned out, put some new logs on the fire!

Ask for help. While email is a useful tool, it’s no substitute for live discussion. Committees should meet in person at least twice a year.

- 6) Develop a survey to ascertain not only what the chapter members want, but also what they can offer. What do members need? What does the chapter need? What skills could our members bring to those needs? Remember, one doesn’t have to be able to play a Bach Trio Sonata while whistling “Dixie” in order to make a valuable contribution.

As the second reign of “Queen Victoria” draws to a close, I thank all officers and committee members for their commitment to the AGO.

Classy Series in NH's North Country

If you vacation this summer in the White Mountains plan to check out the offerings of Music in the Great North Woods, which sponsors the annual Big Moose Bach Fest on Labor Day Weekend. On the Master Organ Series will be Christa Rakich and RP Hale playing the historic Hook and Hastings organ at St. Kieran's Cultural Arts Center in Berlin, as well as Susan Ferre and violinist, Timothy Bell, playing Rheinberger on the Hook and Hastings organ in Gorham. The early music series features Baroque violinist Mimi Mitchell and harpsichordist Richard Egarr, and the Big Moose Bach Fest will invite counter-tenor Michael Hawn (Cantata 54, Widerstehe doch) and baritone David Grogan, as well as Quentin Faulkner, lecturer, Christa Rakich (Leipzig Chorals and Brandenburg 5), the historic film on and excerpts from the Anna Magdalena Bach Notebook, ending with Actus Tragicus: Cantata 106, using original instruments. All concerts are free and donations benefit non-profit organizations in the needy North Country.

The organization has just established a new scholarship program for anyone in the area wanting to study the organ. Two young musicians were awarded the first Norton Scholarships to study the organ. Keenan Wood, 15, of Berlin, was awarded a full scholarship for organ lessons. Paul Salek, 9, of Milan, was awarded a Pipe Organ Encounter. A third candidate will audition in October.

Thank you for your support of the Boston Chapter of the American Guild of Organists!

A Final Word (or Two)

The members of the Boston Chapter are deeply grateful to Jim and Barbara Swist for their service as Newsletter Editor and Publisher for over a decade. Month in and month out, Jim has demonstrated saintly patience while reminding, prodding, and cajoling Deans and Committee Chairs for their submissions. He has hawked ads for the back page and--when necessary--put the fear of God in those who have forgotten to pay for those ads! It was Jim who urged chapter leaders to consider communications as a whole as we discussed potential changes in format. Sometimes taking the vital role of Devil's Advocate, Jim was an important player on the new Communications Committee. His eye for detail helped focus our efforts and foresee potential pitfalls. Both of the Swists will be key as we continue the transition from print to internet communication in the coming year.

Jim and Barbara, thank you!

Editor's Comment (see I get the last word):

Thank you Vickie. It has been my and Barbara's privilege to serve the Chapter in the above-cited roles. It is interesting that just before the Communications Committee was formed, I mentioned to Barbara that after all these years, the Newsletter was starting to look tired and stale, and maybe we should give it a new look. But I have to admit I was thinking more along the lines of yellow and green striped paper with a background of The Atlantic City Convention Hall Organ on every page. Luckily the committee reminded me that this is actually the 21st century, and I need to think outside the box of Gutenberg's press.

However, I need to reaffirm what Vickie alluded to in the Dean's message (and elsewhere). We actually have almost no idea what forms of Chapter communication best serve the membership because almost no one ever provides feedback. I find it frankly amazing that in the 11 years of doing the Newsletter, I couldn't even begin to guess whether we were doing a good job or not - that's how sparse any input had become. Believe it or not, I actually worked in the Technology Sector before becoming a full-time musician (I think this was sometime during the reign of Charlemagne). Even that far back it was an accepted principle that if technocrats, even with all the best intentions, designed systems in a vacuum, the result would almost surely not satisfy the ultimate users of that system. All of us have had the misfortune of using computer software that was obscure in concept and byzantine in implementation (and probably full of bugs, as well). It is almost guaranteed in today's technology that lack of end-user feedback and comment will result in something far from ideal.

Now is the time that the membership must come forward and help the Chapter transition its communications mechanisms if the result is to be a marked improvement over the status quo, and not simply chaos.

Have a great Summer.

—The Editor
